151 of 298 I am ready to wholeheartedly back this text. Fr. Paul Nadim Tarazi has a gift, from the grace of God, of digging out themes from Scripture that at first glance seem totally "wrong" and overly-simplistic, but after proper digestion are as obvious as a message God yells into your ear with a megaphone. You are a guest on the planet Earth. Earth, as with all of time and space, is under the sole jurisdiction, ownership, proprietorship, dominion, and lordship of God. Therefore, you must share with all peoples at all times in all places. No exceptions. Oh yeah, by the way, Judgment Day is coming. 1 of 3 people found the following review helpful. It's like trying to catch a rocket mid-flight. By SicThe author either assumes too much about the background their reader has, or simply does not care if they are understood or not. A bit more care in explaining the 'assumed' knowledge would have went a long way, instead of forcing us to decipher from the text what the author actually had as a starting point. 6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. A REAL GEM. By Bibliophile 55. By far the best commentary on the Holy Scriptures I have ever encountered. A must read for the Jewish, Christian and Muslim communities. The highlight of this well-written book is perhaps the mention that all the earth is to be shared with our fellow human beings and also the animals and every living thing. Highly recommended. "If you have lived in the Middle East since the inception of the state of Israel, or if you are a student of twentieth century Middle East history, you cannot help but take part in the debate which has produced many books on the ongoing conflict between Jews and Arabs, especially Palestinians...[Tarazi addresses this conflict] not from an historical point of view, but strictly biblical...Land and Covenant is a very scholarly and interesting biblical study, and I recommend it to all who seek the truth, objectively and without any prejudice." +Archbishop Philip Saliba, Metropolitan Antiochian Orthodox Christian Archdiocese of NA. The V. Rev. Dr. Paul Nadim Tarazi is Professor of Biblical Studies and Languages at St. Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary. He is the author of a three volume Introduction to the Old Testament, a four volume Introduction to the New Testament, Galatians: A Commentary, I Thessalonians: A Commentary, and The Chrysostom Bible: Genesis: A Commentary. His Audio Bible Commentaries on the books of the New Testament are available online through the Orthodox Center for the Advancement of Biblical Studies (OCABS).
