Liberalism is THE error of our times. It is essentially the mistaken notion that one religion is as good as another and that people have a right freely to choose whatever religion suits them best. The author calls Liberalism "the monster of our times," "the evil of all evils," "a deadly heresy," "a living lion going about seeking whom he may devour." Further, he states: "Liberalism and Catholic Liberalism have been explicitly condemned by Pius IX." Again, "Liberalism of every degree and all forms has been formally condemned; so much so that outside the motives of its intrinsic malice, it stands under the formal ban of the Church, which is sufficient for all faithful Catholics. It would be impossible for an error so widespread and so radical to escape condemnation." "Liberalism Is a Sin" is a translation and an adapted version of "El Liberalismo es Pecado," written and published in 1886 in Spain. Yet it reads as if it were written today! Unfortunately, its comments are even more germane today than when it first appeared. In this book, all shades of the deadly error of Liberalism are exposed and the antidote for combatting Liberalism is carefully outlined. Like a cleaver, this book chops through the mushy, non-logical thinking of Liberalism - which infects most people today, including, sadly, the majority of Catholics. With Liberalism almost universally triumphant in our times, it can be categorically stated that no Catholic book in print today is more potent than "Liberalism Is a Sin," and none is more deserving our studied attention.

About the AuthorDr. Don Felix Sarda y Salvany was a priest and author, born in 1844 near Barcelona. Over the course of forty years, he discussed all the current issues of his time with the understanding of the Catholic faith, as director of the Revista periodical. His potent work entitled Liberalism Is a Sin succeeds in exposing, in very clear terms, the intrinsic evil of liberalism and Catholic liberalism, and was first published in 1899 by the B. Herder Book Company. The work was also retypeset by TAN in 1993. Father Salvany died in 1916.
