

[Free] RSS, School Texts and the Murder of Mahatma Gandhi: The Hindu Communal Project (Response Books)

RSS, School Texts and the Murder of Mahatma Gandhi: The Hindu Communal Project (Response Books)

Aditya Mukherjee, Mridula Mukherjee, Sucheta Mahajan
DOC | *audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

DOWNLOAD

+

READ ONLINE

#5199429 in Books SAGE Publications Pvt. Ltd 2008-06-01 Original language: English PDF # 1 7.60 x .30 x 5.001, .29 #File Name: 8178298546120 pages | File size: 65.Mb

Aditya Mukherjee, Mridula Mukherjee, Sucheta Mahajan : RSS, School Texts and the Murder of Mahatma Gandhi: The Hindu Communal Project (Response Books) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised RSS, School Texts and the Murder of Mahatma Gandhi: The Hindu

Communal Project (Response Books):

RSS, School Texts and the Murder of Mahatma Gandhi undertakes the novel experiment of juxtaposing three apparently quite different issues, the nature of the RSS school textbooks, the murder of the Mahatma and the basic ideology of Savarkar and Golwalkar. While deeply delving into all three aspects, it brings out the deep connection between them. The book, which brings out the basic ideological underpinnings of the Hindu Communal Project, is divided into three parts. Part I discusses how this ideology is propagated among young impressionable minds through school textbooks. Part II studies the role of the Sangh combine in the murder of Mahatma Gandhi and Part III analyses the basic elements of the Hindu communal ideology, as propounded by some of its founders like Savarkar and Golwalkar. The book brings home to us in a dramatic manner the great threat communalism poses to our society, thus making it a must-read for the general educated reader, including politicians, political workers, social activists and journalists.

In just under 100 pages, the three historians from Delhi's Jawaharlal Nehru University have succeeded in highlighting the fact that communalism continues to be a threat in present day India...the authors argue and suggest that it is time that we capitalise on the presence of secular forces within the country.--Businessworld This book...is a worthwhile read as a sort of potted history of Hindutva-inspired hatred and to remind those who may want a refresher course in the context of recent happenings.--DNA This book is a worthwhile read as a sort of potted history of Hindutva-inspired hatred and to remind those who may want a refresher course in the context of recent happenings. (DNA) In just under 100 pages, the three historians from Delhi's Jawaharlal Nehru University have succeeded in highlighting the fact that communalism continues to be a threat in present day India the authors argue and suggest that it is time that we capitalise on the presence of secular forces within the country. (Businessworld) About the Author Aditya Mukherjee is Professor of Contemporary Indian History, Centre for Historical Studies and Dean, School of Social Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi. He was educated at St. Stephens College and JNU. He is the Editor of the Sage Series in Modern Indian History published by SAGE publications, (fifteen monographs already published) and was editor of the Selected Works of Jawaharlal Nehru (2009-11). He is Member of the Council of The Indian Council for Historical Research (ICHR) since 2009. He specializes in Economic History, particularly business history and the political economy of post-colonial development. He was President of the Indian History Congress for Modern India, 2007-8. He has been Visiting Professor at Duke University, U.S.A., 1986; JSPS fellow and Japan Foundation Fellow at University of Tokyo, Japan, 1996 and 1999-2000 respectively; Visiting fellow at the Institutes of Advanced Study at Lancaster, UK and at the University of Sao Paulo, Brazil; Fellow at the Institute of Advanced Study at Nantes, France, 2010 and Visiting professor at La Sapienza, University of Rome, Italy, 2013. His publications include the following books: Indias Struggle for Independence, Viking, 1988, Penguin, 1989, 58th reprint in 2014, and India Since Independence, Penguin, 2008, both co-authored and translated into five languages; Imperialism, Nationalism and the Making of the Indian Capitalist Class 1927-1947, Sage, 2002; RSS, School Texts and The Murder of Mahatma Gandhi: The Hindu Communal Project, Sage, 2008, co-author; A Centenary History of the Indian National Congress, 1964-1984, Vol.V, (editor), Academic Publishers, New Delhi, 2011. Mridula Mukherjee is currently Professor of Modern Indian History and Chairperson of the Centre for Historical Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. Professor Mukherjee has been Visiting Scholar at Duke University, USA, and at the Institute of Oriental Culture, University of Tokyo. She has also been Chairperson of the Archives on Contemporary History at Jawaharlal Nehru University. She has published widely in the areas of agrarian history, peasant movements, social movements and the Indian national movement. Her publications include Indias Struggle for Independence (1999) and India After Independence 1947-2000 (2000), both co-authored. Sucheta Mahajan is Professor at the Centre for Historical Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. She has been Gillespie Visiting Professor at the College of Wooster, Ohio, US, a Fellow of the Indian Institute of Advanced Study, Fellow of the Rockefeller Foundations Bellagio Center and a Visiting Professor at the Maison des Sciences de l'homme, Paris. Her significant books include Independence and Partition: The Erosion of Colonial Power in India (2000); Indias Struggle for Independence (1988; with Bipan Chandra et al); RSS, School Texts and the Murder of Mahatma Gandhi- The Hindu Communal Project (2008; with Aditya and Mridula Mukherjee) and Education and Social Change: MVF and Child Labour (2008). She has also edited many books such as Rites of Passage, A Civil Servant Remembers: H.M. Patel (2005); Composite Culture in a Multi-Cultural Society (co-edited with Bipan Chandra), and most recently, Towards Freedom 1947: Documents on Indias Freedom Struggle (2013). Her fields of interest span the short and long history of the twentieth century, its politics, political economy and social change.