I could not have endured such abject cruelty and revealed my story of survival with such kindness. Today I had the astonishing joy of meeting Judith again after 30 years. She is frail but that great spirit shines through her eyes as it does through "Ike"s. What treasures they are! The gold stars above reflect the Gold Stars of Auschwitz, the gold stars of her remarkable soul, this seed of Sarah. Judith shows an impressive experience of the Holocaust in as a women, the female version of Man's search of meaning. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A very brave and strong woman against such evil. By Sandy I really liked how Judith so very lovingly described her family life before and after the war. She lived through one of the worst times in the history of mankind. I'm glad she made a good life after the horror she lived through. I very brave girl.
