Jennifer Howes : The Courts of Pre-Colonial South India: Material Culture and Kingship (Royal Asiatic Society Books) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Courts of Pre-Colonial South India: Material Culture and Kingship (Royal Asiatic Society Books):

This book investigates how the material culture of South Indian courts was perceived by those who lived there in the pre-colonial period. Howes peels away the standard categories used to study Indian palace space, such as public/private and male/female, and replaces them with indigenous descriptions of space found in court poetry, vastu shastra and painted representations of courtly life. Set against the historical background of the events which led to the formation of the Ramnad Kingdom, the Kingdom's material circumstances are examined, beginning with the innermost region of the palace and moving out to the Kingdom via the palace compound itself and the walled town which surrounded it. An important study for both art historians and South India specialists. The volume is richly illustrated in colour.

'This book is full of interesting insights and thought provoking ideas.' - South Asian Studies
