Kenneth Garden : The First Islamic Reviver: Abu Hamid al-Ghazali and his Revival of the Religious Sciences
before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The First Islamic Reviver: Abu Hamid al-Ghazali and his Revival of the Religious Sciences:

Building on recent revisionist scholarship, this book offers a new account of the last two decades of the life of the seminal eleventh-century Islamic thinker Ab

"Beyond the myth, this is the first convincing reviving of the historical al-Ghazali and a proper understanding of his reformist project in the Ihya. A great work, and a must read for all the nave admirers and other aficionados of the Hujjat al-Islam" --Yahya Michot, Professor of Islamic Studies and Christian-Muslim Relations, Hartford Seminary
"This is a much needed and long absent study on al-Ghazali's most influential work. Garden masterfully examines its complex origins, what it set out to accomplish, and the controversies it triggered during the author's lifetime. No reader of al-Ghazali should be without this." --Frank Griffel, Professor of Islamic Studies, Yale University
"Garden's historically grounded reading of al-Ghazali reveals how Islam's scholars acted as guides for society and not mere seekers of wisdom for themselves. Tracing the connection between his thought and life work as self-proclaimed reviver of Islam, this study makes it now virtually impossible to look at al-Ghazali's writings apart from his efforts in society to bring about nothing less than the salvation and eternal happiness of his fellow believers." --Paul L. Heck, author of Skepticism in Classical Islam: Moments of Confusion
"...Kenneth Garden has here given us a major publication on al-Ghazali. It is philologically rigorous and puts forward innovative views on al-Ghazali's place in Islamic intellectual history. In addition, the book is crafted in graceful and engaging prose that makes it very enjoyable to read. I recommend it to students and scholars of Islamic studies alike." --Islam and Christian-Muslim Relations
