From Motilal Banarsidass : The History of Hindustan (3 Vols) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The History of Hindustan (3 Vols):

1 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Source material for the history of India, ca. 1100-1750By J. RomaneAlexander Dow was private secretary of the Mughal Emperor Aurangzeb in India in the late 1700's. Using Persian language sources, specifically Ferishta, he translated the chronicles of the Islamic sultans and emperors of India into English. B.S.Dahiya, a noted Indian scholar of the twentieth century, has taken Dows text of 1772 and updated the spelling and syntax for current (2010) readers. This book makes accessible important source material about the rise and fall of states in India. The book itself is a fine example of modern Indian book production.

The book is meticulously edited by Dahiya who rendered the original Anglo-Nordic script in modern english without disturbing the original diction and structure and has relied upon the works of Charles Jonston`s the system of Vedanra and on Lawrence Dawson in The Nuttall Encyclopaedia for transliteration and standerdization of spelling of proper names. This book is a must for all Research Centers, Institutes, Universities and Libraries and gives a contemporary account of the Muslim period in India.
