Book by Jeff Hill

From School Library Journal Grade 7 Up Hill has done an outstanding job of putting together this unique resource. He covers the Holocaust from the roots of anti-Semitism to liberation, displaced persons camps, and life after the war using 100 primary-source documents. Each chapter includes a well-written introduction that outlines the key events pertaining to the topic discussed. In a world in which Holocaust deniers exist and in which the number of survivors is diminishing, this must-have sourcebook provides libraries with the needed documentation/evidence for students to better understand the topic. It lends necessary curriculum support, helps teachers meet their state standards, and will aid in required assessments. Donna Rosenblum, Nassau Boces School Library System, NY Copyright Reed Business Information, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.
