From Routledge : The Jewish Philosophy Reader before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Jewish Philosophy Reader:

Fisher I have yet to make as much use of this book as I had hoped, but bought it because I was so impressed upon poring over the copy used by my professor. I appreciate how it is set up, with commanding chapter and section headings whose very titles force me to read further. I enjoy being able to open the book at random, without having to read each chapter in sequence. I strongly recommend this book. 0 of 4 people found the following review helpful. The Jewish Philosophy Reader is the first comprehensive anthology of classic writings on Jewish philosophy from the Bible to the present. Complementing the History of Jewish Philosophy (Routledge, 1997), the Reader is divided into four parts: * Foundations and First Principles * Medieval and Renaissance Jewish Philosophy * Modern Jewish Thought * Contemporary Jewish Philosophy Each section is clearly introduced by the editors and includes writings from the leading figures of Jewish thought. Major thinkers featured include: Baeck Bergman Borowitz Buber Cohen Curley Fledman Frankel Geiger Goodman Haberman Hartman Heschel Hess Israeli Kellner Kook Leaman Lesser Levinas Maimonides Maybaum Mayer Morgan Novak Plasknow Plaut Ravven Rosenzweig Schatz Scholem Seekin Spinoza Stroumsa Wolf and Zunz Ideal for introductory courses in Jewish studies and Jewish thought, The Jewish Philosophy Reader provides a thorough introduction to, and collection of, the leading writers and commentaries on the subject. It will be essential reading for both students and scholars of Jewish thought.

'This is an immensely wide-ranging anthology, covering all the great themes of Jewish reflection and spanning the eras from biblical texts through the medieval Jewish philosophers to modern times. I have no doubt that it will quickly become the standard text for courses on the history of Jewish thought.' - Jonathan Sacks, Jewish Chronicle About the Author Dan Frank is Professor of Philosophy, University of Kentucky, Oliver Leaman is Lecturer in Philosophy at Liverpool John Moores University and Charles Manekin is Professor of Philosophy, University of Maryland.
